Correspondence

CA 34 Diary entry by Schenker for 18 August 1906

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/CA-34.html>]

Schenker returns final proofs of gatherings 17 and 18 of Harmonielehre, and asks for gathering 20.

WSLB 132 Diary entry by Schenker for 25 August 1912

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/WSLB-132.html>]

Schenker returns the contract for Die letzten fünf Sonaten von Beethoven signed. — Proclaiming "Ex Austria lux," he says that Austria's tradition from Haydn to Brahms and Dvořák will now be followed by Schenker's "explanation" (Aufklärung) of that tradition, which will spawn a new generation of composers superior to the present "cacophony," with Universal Edition as the agent of that "rebuilding of tonal music" (Aufbau der Tonkunst). — He alludes to the possibility of teaching for the Gesellschaft der Musikfreunde's proposed "Hochschule." — He prompts Hertzka to act on the Organization of Musicians project in the fall.

Hammer cannot afford Schenker's fee; he dislikes the modern piano and has a Stein grand piano, a Hammerklavier copy, and a clavichord.

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-15-5\_2.html]

Waechter tries again to elicit contributions from Schenker to Das Neue Oesterreich, and asks Schenker's opinion on an analysis of a Schubert song. Schenker's honorarium for lessons is too high.

[OJ 5/43, \[1\] Diary entry by Schenker for 28 September 1918](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-5-43\_1.html]

Schenker thanks Waechter for sending some of his work and praises it for being on the right path toward genius; he questions musical education and existing music periodicals.

OC 52/923 Diary entry by Schenker for 6 June 1919

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OC-52-593.html>]

Hertzka acknowledges receipt of WSLB 302; he cannot entertain early publication of Weisse's work but wishes to get to know it now. — He hopes to have work from Schenker's pen as soon as work for Cotta is finished. — He proposes that the Foreword to Die letzten fünf Sonaten von Beethoven ... op. 111 be omitted [in a future edition].

WSLB 303 Diary entry by Schenker for 12 June 1919

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/WSLB-303.html>]

Schenker promises to send Hans Weisse to see Hertzka. In reacting unfavorably to Hertzka's suggestions that the Foreword to Die letzten fünf Sonaten von Beethoven, Op. 111 be discarded for its second edition, Schenker puts up a stout defense of his use of polemic in his writings, contending that art, life, and politics are inextricably interconnected. He claims that his pronouncements on politics now will prove correct in the long run. His sole concern is with the truth; he is not interested in pandering to his readers.

[OJ 15/5, \[3\] Diary entry by Schenker for 2 September 1919](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-15-5\_3.html]

Waechter is sending copy of his Schubert study, and offers to send the manuscript of his forthcoming book for Schenker's assessment.

[OJ 10/3, \[2\] Diary entry by Schenker for 8 September 1919](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_2.html]

Deutsch encloses part of a letter from Ludwig Scheibler, which he says will interest Schenker. He has finished work on two volumes of his documentary biography.

[OJ 15/5, \[4\] Diary entry by Schenker for 1 October 1919](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-15-5\_4.html]

Waechter asks for an article on performance for Der Merker, remarking that analysis takes the performer only so far, after which the latter's feelings must take over. He praises Schenker's prowess in analysis, and asks again if he may send the manuscript of his latest book for Schenker's appraisal.

[OJ 10/3, \[5\] Diary entry by Schenker for 8 January 1920](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_5.html]

Deutsch reports that Hertzka wants the music connoisseur edition of the "Moonlight" Sonata to include facsimiles only, not textually cleaned editions. Deutsch outlines the basis of the contract (editors will receive 8% of the retail price) and the production timetable. He asks if Schenker would rather take on a different facsimile due to competition from a Copenhagen publisher. Schenker's Theory of Harmony was not in stock in Vienna.

[OJ 10/3, \[6\] Diary entry by Schenker for 9 January 1920](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_6.html]

Deutsch is sorry that a customer prevented him from speaking with the Schenkers when they visited his store. Photographic originals will be needed for the connoisseur edition.

OC B/169 Diary entry by Schenker for 22 January 1920

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OC-B-169.html>]

[OJ 10/3, \[23\] Diary entry by Schenker for 30 January 1921](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_23.html]

The overdue ["Moonlight" Sonata edition] contract is finally ready, and Deutsch hopes that Schenker is happy with the wording. The Bonn photographs are also ready. Schenker should expect to receive an edited version of his commentary, and perhaps also an English translation.

[OJ 10/3, \[28\] Diary entry by Schenker for 14 February 1922](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_28.html]

Deutsch offers to provide several books to Schenker instead of two or three hardback copies of the "Moonlight" Sonata edition, and then details several misprints and factual errors in Romain Rolland's biography of Beethoven.

[OJ 11/36, \[5\] Diary entry by Schenker for 23 March 1922](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-11-36\_5.html]

Hammer praises Schenker's edition of Bach's Chromatic Fantasy & Fugue, raising an issue about fingering on the clavichord.— He inquires after Tonwille 2, and hopes to visit Schenker in Vienna soon.

[OJ 10/3, \[37\] Diary entry by Schenker for 26 May 1922](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_37.html]

Deutsch reports that Drei Masken will not publish a facsimile edition of Beethoven's "Spring" Sonata Op. 24, and will instead publish editions of Beethoven's Piano Sonata in F-sharp Op. 78, a string quartet by Haydn, and Schubert's Winterreise and B minor Symphony.

[OJ 10/3, \[38\] Diary entry by Schenker for 30 October 1922](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_38.html]

Deutsch apologizes for the delay to Schenker's payment for the "Moonlight" Sonata facsimile edition, for which Deutsch himself is to blame. Schenker's debt to Seidel's Book Dealership is 301 marks and 300 kronen, which should be balanced by his income from the facsimile edition.

[OJ 10/3, \[39\] Diary entry by Schenker for 29 December 1922](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_39.html]

Deutsch provides a full overview of Schenker income from the current sales reported by Universal Edition of the "Moonlight" Sonata facsimile edition, and also his debts at Seidel's Book Dealership; Schenker owes Deutsch 76.65 marks. Deutsch is dissatisfied with Universal Edition's behavior with respect to the publication.

[OJ 6/7, \[6\] Diary entry by Schenker for 20 July 1923](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-6-7\_6.html]

Schenker describes his efforts to make Der Tonwille more widely read, through its distribution by his pupils and its display in music shop windows. He needs more help from pupils and friends with the dissemination of his work, but complains that Hans Weisse has let him down on more than one occasion by not writing about his work. Finally, he asks Violin's advice about whether he should accept an invitation to speak at a conference in Leipzig, or whether he should simply stay at home and continue to write.

[OJ 5/45, \[3\] Diary entry by Schenker for 12 September 1923](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-5-45\_3.html]

Schenker explains his behavior a few days before, in reply to Weisse's letter of September 7, and his implicit displeasure at his pupil's lengthy trip to Italy in the summer.

[JOB 94-3, \[5\] Diary entry by Schenker for 24 October 1923](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/JOB-94-3\_5.html]

Schenker invites Hammer and his wife for November 7; — The problem of the "middleman" (performer, etc.) in music, by contrast with painting; — he reports on Hertzka's proposal to make Tonwille a quarterly publication.

DLA 69.930/12 Diary entry by Schenker for 4 April 1924

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/DLA-69.930-12.html>]

In response to matters raised by Halm in two previous letters, Schenker discusses figuration, distinguishing between that which works only on the surface and that which arises out of the middle and background, drawing on primal intervals. He also concedes that he heard Bruckner improvising, and criticizes it adversely. He refers to Reger, and outlines plans for forthcoming volumes of Der Tonwille.

[OJ 10/3, \[40\] Diary entry by Schenker for 9 May 1924](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_40.html]

Deutsch thanks Schenker for the most recent (sixth) issue of Tonwille. He read Schenker's comments on Schubert's "Gretchen am Spinnrade" (Op. 2) with great interest, although he did not fully understand them. Deutsch encloses an announcement from the publisher Vieweg that may be of interest to Schenker.

DLA 69.930/13 Diary entry by Schenker for 6 October 1924

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/DLA-69.930-13.html>]

Asks Halm to send some of his chamber music to Rudolf Pollak, with prospect of performance of the A major string quartet. —Deplores current situation over Sofie Deutsch stipends. —Reports difficulties with UE and intention to change publisher.

OC 54/5-7 Diary entry by Schenker for 9 December 1924

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OC-54-5-7.html>]

In the light of an exchange of letters with UE, Schenker suggests that the new publication have a new title (Die Uralinie) but that the old typeface and format be retained. He suggests that the new periodical should include articles on each of the Chopin etudes and the four Brahms symphonies, and on symphonies by Beethoven, Mozart, Schubert and Haydn, from all of which book-length studies could subsequently be made.

[OJ 14/45, \[41\] Diary entry by Schenker for 19 January 1925](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-14-45\_41.html]

Violin reports on a successful concert in which he performed both as a soloist and with the Klingler String Quartet. He thanks Schenker for Tonwille 10. He has received a copy of Hans Weisse's recent vocal quartets, and is puzzled by how a limited talent can write such good music. He is going to see Max Temming, and has received four courteous letters of acknowledgement from university music departments for copies of Der Tonwille.

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-9-12\_2.html]

Bamberger reports that after six months of repetiteur work he has been granted some conducting. -- He laments the lack of musical education of the Danzig citizens, and its impact on the theater's repertory. Talent is not appreciated by the theater's administrators. He wants to move on from Danzig, suggesting Dessau. -- He reports on his reading of Der Tonwille, and his success in encouraging others to subscribe. -- He asks Schenker a question about Schubert's song "Wohin?"

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/WSLB-Hds-191-557.html>]

Responding to Deutsch's request, Schenker sends his text for inclusion in the forthcoming Schubert issue of Moderne Welt, and invites the Deutsches for an afternoon snack.

[OJ 10/3, \[41\] Diary entry by Schenker for 20 October 1925](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_41.html]

Deutsch thanks Schenker for quickly providing his text [for the forthcoming Schubert issue of Moderne Welt]. He has written to Thomas Mann regarding the reference to Schubert's "Der Lindenbaum" in Mann's novel Der Zauberberg. The Deutsches accept Schenker's invitation for an afternoon snack, but can only come on a Sunday after November 2.

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_42.html]

Deutsch informs Schenker that due to space constraints the editors have (without Deutsch's prior knowledge) cut the first four paragraphs of Schenker's article, leaving only the last two paragraphs, which refer particularly to Schubert. He asks Schenker to agree to this cut, but also offers him the option of removing his article so that it can be used in full elsewhere. Deutsch asks Schenker to look at a Beethoven manuscript at Heck's.

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-10-3\_44.html]

Deutsch enjoyed today's afternoon tea at the Schenkers and will return the Vrieslander and Hammer books to Schenker tomorrow. He asks Schenker to speak to Hoboken about the possibility of him purchasing Deutsch's collection of Schubert first editions.

Finding his name mentioned adversely in Meisterwerk 1, Hindemith writes that he has always striven to fulfill in his own work the fundamental truths that are stated in Schenker's books. He encloses two scores, and is convinced Schenker will find the Urlinie in them.

[OJ 5/17, \[1, vsn 1\] Diary entry by Schenker for 3 November 1926](#)

[http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OJ-5-17\_1-vsn-1.html]

In response to Hindemith's letter of October 25, 1926, Schenker's 15-page first draft states his preference for a meeting with Hindemith in Vienna. Schenker thinks differently from Hindemith: the notion of a "good musician" is a delusion; artistic property is comparable with material property; the music of today is quite different from that of the past, the rules of the masterworks do not govern it, hence it is not art at all. Schenker reserves the right to speak his own mind.

OC 54/111 Diary entry by Schenker for 8 January 1927

[<http://www.schenkerdocumentsonline.org/correspondence/OC-54-111.html>]

Deutsch thanks Schenker for his recent communications, including a copy of the contract with Drei Masken Verlag for the Meisterwerk Yearbook, and asks for a copy of relevant extracts from the correspondence with the publishers. He reports progress in the establishment of a Photogram Archive at the Austrian National Library, with the cooperation of Dr Robert Haas and financial support from Anthony van Hoboken; similar plans to photographically reproduce autograph manuscripts are underway at the Beethoven House in Bonn, and (for manuscripts of Bach and Handel) also in England. He advises Schenker that proofs will start arriving from the printing-house Waldheim in a few weeks, and expresses his delight in being able to assist Schenker in the promotion of his work.

Deutsch asks Schenker what he wrote about Domenico Scarlatti and Chopin as non-German geniuses, for his forthcoming trip to Sweden. He has learned that Schubert was paid for two summers' teaching for the Esterházy family; he has valued two song manuscripts belonging to the family at 4,000 marks.

Deutsch tells Schenker that the second edition of Schindler's Beethoven biography is available, but not the first. --- He explains at length a misunderstanding over the reprinting of Beethoven's Piano Sonata Op. 57, with correction strips, before Universal Edition reissued Schenker's edition, revised in the light of the facsimile of the autograph manuscript. --- He is thoroughly pleased with Hoboken's text (announcing the Photogram Archive) and gives an account of his and Hoboken's movements over the summer.--- He reports on a project in America to find a completion for Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony, and expresses his regret that Drei Masken Verlag have been slow to prepare the second Meisterwerk yearbook for publication.

Deutsch accepts an invitation to the Schenkers on Wednesday, October 19. – Drei Masken Verlag have told him that they have already paid Schenker's honorarium and sent him complementary copies [of the second Meisterwerk yearbook] in January and that the second payment came to him from their branch in Vienna. – He has been working on a Beethoven catalogue but must now turn his attention to Mozart, and then to Schubert.

Weisse congratulates Schenker on the publication of the second Meisterwerk Yearbook, of which he expresses mainly admiration. But he is unhappy with Schenker's dismissal of the fugue from Reger's Variations and Fugue on a theme of Bach, and with his reading of the Uralinie in Schubert's Waltz Op. 9 (D. 365), No. 5, and Beethoven's Sonata Op. 10, No. 2.

Deutsch suspects that with the typesetters' "messing up" of Schenker's revised copy of Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony the material has been made illegible. — He has been in contact with people regarding a possible radio talk by Schenker, and one by himself on the redesigning of the Mozarteum. — He reports that the pianist Heinz Jolles would like Schenker to prepare an edition of one of Beethoven's variation sets (WoO 80 or the "Diabelli"), and that Josef Braunstein is gratified to hear of Schenker's interest in his recent book on the "Leonore" overtures.
